Websters definition of ignorance is
 "the condition of being not informed"
 a lack of knowledge. We are not ignorant.
 But people who BAN things they do not even understand are most ignorant.
 We do not BAN and we are not ignorant.
 Coincidence? NO. Thank You.

"Don't bug me man, i'm thinkin'!", shouted the youth at his peers. He sat on the curb in front of the 7-11, thinking. Scoot by his side, while in serious train of thought he looked up. Coming up the street were the local criesters. After spewing out rotten comments at the "bike fags" the walked in the store. The kid heard them badgering the clerk to let them buy cigarettes. They all walked out and lit up one by one, contented. Then one of them picked up a rock and threw it at one of the freestlylers. It missed, it hit & cracked the store window. The criesters took off as did the boy's peers. The store clerk ran out. "Just what do you..." But she was cut off by the boys icy stare. His rotten day had just gotten worse and he couldn't stand it anymore. With amazing speed he took off across the parking lot and spun a 6-Turn. A lady just turning in slammed on her brakes. It had no effect on him however, as he footplanted off the hood of her white porsche and bounced off. He bunny-hopped high over a stack of crates and sent his legs inches from the managers body and sent his flailing boomerang. He then took off across the street fork-wheeling, when he got to the other sidewalk he stopped and with a big ~~smile~~-eating grin, waved. He then rode off into the sunset, People just stood watching, heads shaking, and mesmerized. - A.P
